

English (BA): Teacher Education Concentration

Core Curriculum

The undergraduate major in English is built around a 12-hour core consisting of two literature classes and two courses from the following categories: Film, Linguistics, Creative Writing, and Rhetoric. Students in the Teacher Education complete the core by taking ENG 328: Linguistics for Education Professionals and ENG 455: Literacy in the U.S. In addition to the 12-hour core, students take an additional 27 hours of course work in the major, including two courses in literary theory, an additional literature course studying an author or genre, and five English electives.

Students in the Teacher Education program (TED) take 31 hours of professional coursework in addition to the 39-hours in English required by the TED concentration. Formal applications are required for admission to Teacher Education candidacy and for admission to the Professional Semester. Students who complete the program's academic and licensure requirements are eligible to apply for certification to teach English in secondary schools in North Carolina.

For more information, including program contact information, visit the Department of English website (<https://english.chass.ncsu.edu/undergraduate/majors/>).

Career Opportunities

A degree in English provides both liberal education and practical knowledge about the role of writing and language in the everyday world. It leads to careers in such fields as teaching, journalism, advertising, public relations, personnel management, technical writing, business writing, and creative writing. It sharpens the analytical and interpretive skills needed for professional and managerial careers, and it serves as an excellent preparation for students planning to study law or medicine and for those intending to do graduate work in literature, linguistics, film, or rhetoric.
