

World Languages and Cultures (BA): German Studies Concentration

Perhaps you admire the culture. Or the country. Or the way the language sounds. Whether you choose to focus solely on German Studies or combine it with another major, you can build a solid career in practically any field. All the general requirements for the Bachelor of Arts degree must be met. The degree designation is B.A. in World Languages and Cultures with a concentration in German Studies. Outstanding students may become members of Delta Phi Alpha, German Honor Society.

Study Abroad

It is required that all German Studies students participate in at least one regular semester of study abroad or internship (3-4 months minimum) in a German-speaking country. Please note that no more than 15 hours of transfer credit (from study abroad or other US Institutions which are not a part of UNC-Online) may be applied towards core courses in German Studies (core: required courses, departmental electives, FLG electives I and II, and advised electives I and II). WLGE 499 Internship in Germany, Austria, or German-Speaking Switzerland is an internship course with up to 6 credits. For students who choose study abroad instead of an internship, FLG 499 Internship in Germany, Austria, or German-Speaking Switzerland serves as a placeholder for transfer credits from the study abroad semester.

Career Opportunities

The expansion of international relations makes the knowledge of world languages a critical need for today's professional. The student of world languages is not limited to teaching, translating or interpreting. There are careers in politics, diplomacy, commerce, business, agriculture, science, and research in which a thorough knowledge of world languages and cultures is crucial for success. The demand for multilingual personnel extends to all fields of human enterprise and will continue to grow in the coming years.
