

Fashion and Textile Management (BS): Fashion Development and Product Management Concentration

If you're looking for a hands-on program that provides you with both design experience and business know-how, our Fashion Development and Product Management (<https://textiles.ncsu.edu/academics/undergraduate/fashion-development-and-product-management/>) (FDPM) program at the Wilson College of Textiles may be for you. FDPM is one of two concentrations students majoring in Fashion and Textile Management can choose to focus on during their time at the Wilson College of Textiles.

Courses in our state-of-the-art fashion studios and labs will provide you with the opportunity to build a portfolio and learn to build ready-to-wear collections for customers. You'll also develop industry knowledge about the sourcing, logistics and marketing that take a product from a designer's idea to your online cart.

Career Opportunities

Because of their broad range of knowledge and experience, our FDPM graduates become valuable candidates for jobs all along the fashion and apparel supply chain. Nike, Gap, Kohl's, Under Armour, Target, Adidas, Natick, and Abercrombie & Fitch are just some of the household brands that frequently hire our students in technical design, sourcing and research capacities.

Career Titles

- Fashion Technical Designer/Product Developer: Member of a team that takes a product from concept to sales, including research and ideation, development, marketing, inventory and production.
- Fashion Product Manager: Create and execute a fashion product vision by overseeing a team of fashion technical designers/product developers.
- Fashion Planner: Analyze sales performance of store products and predict customer behavior to help a retailer determine when to drop, expand or alter a product line.
- Fashion Buyer: Combine industry knowledge, consumer research and creativity to decide what clothes, accessories, footwear and other items retailers sell.
- Fashion 3D Developer: Use 3D Computer-Aided Design (CAD) technology to design garments and perfect their draping and fit to ready them for manufacturing and production.
- Fashion Merchandiser: Analyze data and conduct market research to optimize store layouts and displays, set item prices and manage product stock in order to maximize store profits.
- Fashion Stylist/Editor: Apply trend forecasting and principles of market research to develop looks for clients that are both on trend and fit within that public figure's personal brand.
